P.O. Site May Receive Final Word Tomorrow

Where the new Campbell post office will be located should be a settled issue by tomorrow night. Post office officials have indicated that a final decision will be made on the matter by Friday and there is a possibility that the entire question will be settled today.

During the past week the wires have hummed beween San Francisco, Campbell and Washington, D. C. as postal officials and owners of the old Methodist Church property on Campbell Ave. at First St., have attempted to reach an agreement.

Oliver Jensen and Henry Jewell recently acquired the Methodist Church property and have submitted plans to the post office department for a post office building to be erected on part of the property. The building would be built under a long-term lease arrangement with the postal department.

Action to locate the post office on the Methodist property started after the post office department had obtained a land option for a site on Central near Grant St. Proceedings were stopped, however, when the Methodist property became available and public sentiment appeared opposed to the Central Ave. spot. The main objections were that the street was too narrow, parking facilities limited and the adjacent area would be difficult to develop businesswise.

It is understood that postal officials look with favor on the Methodist Church property, but do not feel that they should pay more for it than the Central Ave. location. Hence the problem, for Jensen and Jewell maintain that the property on First St. and Campbell is more valuable.

Harold J. Cooke, regional real estate manager for the post office department and J. F. Dempsey, real estate inspector, have both spent considerable time in Campbell and in conferences trying to work out a solution to the problem.

Sam Cava, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has also tried to work out a suitable agreement. Cava has been in contact by telephone with Rollin Bernard, a deputy postmaster general who was interested in the case by Congressman Charles Gubser.

At a late hour last night, indications were that an agreement would be reached by this evening and that the betting on the sideline was that the post office would go up on the Methodist Church property.

Three Women Get Top C of C Posts

It was "Ladies Day" at the Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Tuesday as three of the fair sex were named to important posts of the C. of C.

Mrs. Eleanor Jacobson, of the Twin City Manufacturing Co., on Railway Ave., Campbell, was elected to the directors in place of Gentry Warren who has resigned from the board.

Mrs. Emily McConnell, of Rachel's Dress Shop, was renamed Merchants Committee Chairman and Mrs. Ann Levine, of Rozanne's was named chairman of the important membership committee of the Chamber.

Seek Counsel

Sanitation District 4 directors tonight at their regular meeting will screen six applicants for the job of district counsel vacated by Howard Campen, newly appointed county administrator. Directors also hope to make the appointment tonight.

At the last meeting the board rescinded a previous action which would give some residents a credit for three years on their sewer rental fees because of a surplus existing in the assessment districts because costs of the sewer projects were less than the estimate.

Directors recommended that a different plan to pay out this surplus be drafted by the engineer and manager of the district.

ISSUES WARRANT

Campbell police report that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of June Twilligear, formerly of 402 E. Central, charged with passing worthless checks on Campbell merchants.

Planners Work on Lighter Agenda

A lighter agenda than has been the case for the past few months faces the Campbell Planning Commission tonight. But the going doesn't look like it will be much easier.

A number of matters listed have been continued from previous meetings. These include, plans of M. Nimerick for a commercial building at Rincon and Winchester; approval of plans for Sanitation District No. 4 corporation yard; and approval of the wall for the automatic car wash of Albert and Henry Frank, Latimer and Winchester.

One of Campbell's new industries, Ludeman-Townsend Co., is submitting plans for contemplated construction at Dell Ave. and Sunnyoaks Ave.

Adults Get Polio Shot

Adult residents of the Campbell area will be able to obtain polio vaccinations starting this Friday at two polio vaccination clinics that will be set up in this area.

Using state-purchased vaccine, the Santa Clara County Health Department will set up shop this Friday at the Hamilton School, 480 E. Hamilton, and the San Tomas School, 1100 Hacienda. The clinics will be held from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the two schools.

Additional clinics at the same locations are scheduled for the same hours on five subsequent Fridays, March 15, 22 and April 5, 12, and 19.

The State of California has purchased the vaccine with $3 million in state funds, which is enough for approximately 800,000 inoculations. Santa Clara County has been allocated sufficient vaccine to immunize with two injections 65,000 persons under 40 years of age, Dr. Elwyn Turner, county health officer, reported.

"Adults, ages 20 to 40," Dr. Turner said, "especially the parents of young children are urged to avail htemselves of the oportunity to be vaccinated in the offices of private physicians or at the clinics that are being established. Polio seems to hit hardest this portion of the population."

Campbell Postmaster Retires This Month

One local resident, who has been involved for the past 22 years in problems affecting the Campbell post office, is remaining strangely aloof in the current controversy over the location of a new post office here.

There is a good reason for this. Postmaster Ira Grim is retiring this month.

An era will come to an end in Campbell at the end of the month when Ira Grim, postmaster here for more than 22 years, retires. Postmaster Grim represents one of the last remaining links with the past when Campbell was a sleepy little rural village and keeping pace with the growth was no problem. The postmaster with the help of one full-time assistant and one part-time clerk took care of the entire distribution of the mail in town.

One Rural Route

There was no such thing as city mail delivery when Grim took office as acting postmaster on January 20, 1935 but there was one rural route. Daniel A. Yeager carried the mail on this route in his Model T Ford. Incidentally, the rural route in Campbell was among the first established in the United States. Yeager, who now lives at 3000 Moorpark Ave., retired in 1955 after being a RFD carrier out of the Campbell office since 1920.

When Grim became postmaster in 1935 Yeager was using a Model T. although the Ford people had quit making that popular job some years previously. Yeager finally shifted to the Model A's and that was what he was using when he retired in 1955.

When Yeager left in 1955 the local post office discontinued the rural route service altogether (there were two RFD's by that time) and converted them to "city mounted".

Postmaster Grim, who was appointed during the regime of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and has served under two subsequent presidents, feels that the most outstanding point in his 22 years plus service here as postmaster has been the tremendous growth that has taken place especially during the last few years.

The late Onie Putnam was clerk and Ray Wood, part-time helper, and one rural carrier comprised the staff of the local office in 1935. Today there are 30 employees. The staff today includes 16 carriers for the 12 city routes, one parcel post and special delivery man, one assistant postmaster and 12 clerks.

The Campbell office was of second class rating when Grim took office with receipts about $12,000 per year. In 1956 the local post office did $86,000 in business.

City Delivery in 1947

City delivery was not started until 1947, Grim recalls. The post office in that year moved to the Lynden building, its present quarters. These quarters have now been outgrown and the post office department must obtain additional space. The year 1947 was an eventful one for another reason, the office went first class.

Postmaster Grim feels that he was able pretty well to keep up with the growth and all their ensuing problems despite the difference in operation today as compared to that of 1935. During the 22 years as Campbell's head mailman, Grim has been the target of critics both from within and without the local office. But he has managed to weather all the storms. But he is looking forward with enthusiasm incidentally, to his retirement.

The postmaster will become 70 years of age this Sunday, March

High School Stages "Articulation Days'

More than 1000 eighth grade students from elementary schools in the Campbell Union High School District will participate in the annual 8th-9th grade "articulation program" starting next week at both Campbell and Camden high schools.

Parents of the students will also take part in the activities.

Five days have been set aside for the program to accommodate the students from the five elementary districts that make up the high school district, according to Dean Chamberlin, principal of Camden High School, in charge of the project.

The "kickoff" for the program, which has for one of its objectives the making of the transition period from elementary to high school level as smooth as possible, began last Thursday with the annual Spring Registration dinner attended by 75 eighth grade teachers and administrators within the district.

According to Chamberin, the program is based on three main concepts: (1) students in a new school situation are more likely to succeed, if their programs are carefully planned through cooperative efforts; (2) a high school which knows in advance the number, characteristics and academic plans of its incoming freshman

City Needs Storm Drains Badly - - - All it Takes is Money - - -

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in the series dealing with needed city improvements and how they can be obtained. The first article published last week pertained to the overall picture and need and cost of street improvements. Councilman Richard Morton, who has served continuously on the City Council since the city was incorporated, is collaborating with The Press in this presentation.

In this week's article the need for storm drains and a corporation yard is discussed. Included in the final article will be a "straw ballot" with which the citizens of Campbell can "vote" as to which way they want their City Fathers to move improvementwise and if they are willing to pay the freight.—G.V.

That the City of Campbell lacks facilities for the disposing of surface water is forcibly brought to the attention of every citizen especially during the winter season. The difficulties experienced during the floods of the winter of 1955-56 are all too vivid in the memory of local residents.

It is then apparent that the deficiencies in the storm water drainage system are of equal importance to those that exist in our streets and highways.

The present facilities consist only of several inadequate corrugated tin pipes on Campbell Ave. and well designed systems installed in new subdivisions. New subdivisions actually present no problem, for the City Administration requires the developer to install adequate facilities.

But what about the area which has already been developed under the jurisdiction of the county and inherited by the City of Campbell?

Three-fold Problem

It is a three-fold problem:

(1) Disposing of the accumulation of storm waters. This is primarily a function of the County or the Regional Flood Control district and the two major water courses, Los Gatos Creek and San Tomas Creek which traverse our City are used for this purpose. Both agencies are working toward the proper solution.

(2) Installation of a trunk system to carry the surface water to the two creeks. This is a problem of the city as a whole and is the subject of this analysis.

(3) Collection and carrying the waters to the trunk system. This is essentially a local rather than a city-wide problem and will also be discussed.

Eight Systems

Plans were presented by the City Engineer in November, 1955, for a complete storm water trunk system conscientiously studied and revised by the City Council since that time. The plan provides for eight integrated systems:

(1) Mid-way street system—Covers the area on the east side of the San Jose-Los Gatos Road (excluding the area already drained through the Kuehnis Estate system).

(2) San Jose-Los Gatos Road system . . . Drain the area between the San Jose-Los Gatos Road, the Los Gatos Creek, Campbell Ave. and Hamilton Ave.

(3) East Campbell Ave. system . . . Between the Los Gatos Creek and the S. P. tracks south of Campbell Ave.

(4) Hamilton Ave. system. . . The largest of all and would drain the area between the northern city limits, Winchester Road, Campbell Ave. and the railroad tracks.

(5) Winchester-Rincon system . . . Drains the area between Campbell Ave., Los Gatos Creek, Casey Road, Winchester Road and California St.

(6) Milton Ave. system . . . Drains the area between Winchester Road, Latimer Ave., San Tomas Creek and Rincon Ave.

(7) Eden Ave. system . . .Drains the area between Winchester Road, Latimer Ave., San Tomas Creek and northern city limits.

(8) West Campbell Ave. system . . . Drains the area between Campbell Ave., San Tomas Creek, Bucknall Road, and western city limits.

The first five systems would drain into Los Gatos Creek. The last three into San Tomas. Pipes as large as 48-inches in diameter would be used.

The total estimated cost for these systems was estimated in November 1955 at $520,000 and have since increased, it is estimated, to $575,000.

The City Engineer's study also applies to areas beyond the present city limits served by the Latimer Ave. trunk, West Campbell trunk and West Rincon trunk. But these three trunk lines would not be provided for in the system referred to. They could be built by use of the revolving fund which will be discussed later.

Not Complete

This eight-trunk system is not the complete solution to the overall collection problem. Where curbs and gutters are installed, the storm waters would surface drain to the catch basins, which in turn would empty into the trunk system. Where there are no curbs and gutters the water along the street would not be taken by gravity flow to the nearest catch basin. Construction and installation of curbs and gutters would then be necessary or perhaps even internal collection sewers on some streets. These could be constructed by local assessment proceeding.

To maintain such a system by the City it is estimated that the additional annual cost would be $3,500, including the additional personnel and the amortization of special equipment.

"When's" Important

Another factor to consider is the "when" such a system should be installed. It makes sense to install the drains when the major street work is being done because when a new surface is put on a highway it should not be cut into later to install the drainage facility.

The City is doing just that at the present time on Hamilton Ave. and Winchester Road. The trunk sewer is being installed now, although it will have a plug in both ends.

CORPORATION YARD

Another deficiency in the level of municipal services in the City of Campbell, of which the average citizen is probably not aware, is the inefficient working conditions that exist today in the Public Works Department.

This department is now operating from three separate points. Because the facilities for repair and maintenance are limited, the great majority of this work must be contracted out. In addition, there are no available bins for storage of road materials necessitating their purchase in small amounts. This inefficient and expensive operation is costing the City of Campbell and its taxpayers unnecessary money.

With its own corporation yard, the department could affect considerable saving in materials plus operate on a more all-around efficient basis.

At the present time the City is leasing from the County on a long-term basis two acres at the intersection of Los Gatos Creek, Campbell Ave., and Gilman Ave. This property is now being filled under the supervision of the Public Works Department.

There are two main objections to this location: (1) possibility of flooding (2) inadequacy of size. Exclusive of rent, a corporation yard on this property is estimated to cost approximately $13,000.

The capital outlay for improvement of a larger yard ($16,000) plus the cost of four acres at approximately $6,000 per acre would bring the cost of such a yard to $40,000.

A corporation yard at any location would require an additional annual cost of operation. A part-time mechanic and part-time clerk would have to be employed at a cost of approximately $4000 per year.

BAGBY CLUB TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Bagby Home and School Club will be held on next Wednesday, March 13 at 8:00 p.m. in the cafetorium of Bagby Elementary School on Harris and Custer Drive, Campbell. After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Grace Walkington, associate professor of education at San Jose State College, will talk on Discipline for children of elementary age.

10. He was born in West Virginia, 1887. By law he must retire at the end of the month in which he reached his 70th year. The last day at the office will actually be Saturday, March 30.

The Grims came to Campbell in 1919. (His wife, Mary, is a native of England. She met her husband in Fruitvale, California, however. They were married in 1913.) They have three sons and two daughters all who attended the Campbell schools.

Their son Arnold, a contracting officer with Curtiss Wright, resides in Santa Barbara; Richard Merrill, an inspector engineer for a San Francisco firm, lives in Campbell, while their other son, Robert is employed wih IBM in San Jose. One of their daughters, Betty, (Cantrell) resides in Washington while Maryalice is a doctor's receptionist in San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. Grim plan to take a trip to the East Coast in April but other than that their plans for the future are indefinite. They have resided at 78 S. 3rd St. for the past 11 years. Both of them have taken an active part in the activities of the St. Lucy's Catholic parish during their residence in Campbell.

During his 22 years as postmaster here, Postmaster Grim recalls, very few "exciting" incidents in which the post office played a major role. During World War II, he said, the local office was called on to fingerprint all aliens, which was a bit of an unusual function for the office but other than the "bomb scare" of a few years back, Grim claims, his 22 years have been pretty routine just trying to keep up with the growth.

The "bomb scare" resulted when some unknown party called by phone to report that there was a bomb in the post office ready to go off. Mayor Richard Morton and Chief of Police Robert Locke, along with Grim searched the office. As the "hypo" truck had just been dispatched, no chances were taken and the truck was stopped at Pleasanton and all the sacks of Campbell mail dumped out. No bomb was found, although a short time later a bomb did go off harmlessly in a front yard of some residence in San Jose.

Grim was employed for 15 years by the Chevrolet Motor Company in San Jose prior to his taking the job here as postmaster. However, just immediate to his appointment he was employed by the California Automobile Association. At one time he operated a garage in Campbell.

Postmaster Grim looks with unruffled calm on the current controversy waging over the location of the post office in town, a rather different situation than has been the case during the last 22 years.

But Ira likes the idea.—G.V.

class can more effectively meet their needs; and (3) the students will be able to start high school with greater confidence, if they are familiar with the geogprahy, regulations and opportunities of the new school.

Burbank eighth graders and four classes of Campbell eighth graders will visit the schools on Monday. On Wednesday and Thursday, part of Union and more from Campbell will take part while on Friday Cambrian and the balance of Campbell students will visit. The visitation will end on Monday, March 18, when the balance of students from Cambrian, plus the Moreland eighth graders, will descend on the two high school campuses.

All from Burbank, Union and Cambrian schools will visit Camden, the school they will attend next fall while the Moreland students will visit Campbell for the same reason. Campbell eighth graders, however, will be divided, as part of them will attend Campbell and part Camden.

District figures show that Burbank has 38 eighth graders, Cambrian 205; Campbell, 549; Moreland, 132, and Union 156. Of the total of 1080, 507 will go to Camden and 573 to Campbell.

During the visit at each school, the eighth graders will be conducted on a guided tour and will be served lunch in the cafeteria. There will be discussion of the courses open to ninth graders and each student will be issued forms and an informative handbook of the school.

The parents of the students have been invited to attend an evening session at the school on the same day that their youngsters visit in order to better understand the high school program. The eighth grade teachers will also meet with high school staff members so that they will be in a better position to counsel the elementary school graduates.

After all the data is compiled, the master schedule of the high school will be drawn up. From the records turned in the high school staff will also be able to facilitate the high school activities in the fall when the eighth graders enter school.

Chamberlin pointed out that there are some 75 subjects that are available for ninth graders to choose from for their electives. Only three subjects, orientation, English and physical education are required by all Freshmen. He said that the information received during the "articulation program" gives the district a basis for the employment of new teachers as well as the setting up of new courses.

Red Cross Begins House to House Canvass for Funds

The Red Cross annual Fund and Membership drive got under way this week in the Campbell-Cambrian Park area under the leadership of Mrs. Edward H. Ryan and a large corps of volunteers. Workers have started on a house to house campaign in an all-out effort to raise the quota set for the Campbell area.

Mrs. Ryan stressed the urgent need for support of the Red Cross due to additional service needs for the fast-growing area such as the blood bank program, assistance given to men in military service, instruction classes in home nursing, water safety and first aid. These services are shared by residents of the Campbell-Cambrian area, she emphasized, and wider support is needed to make it possible to expand and carry out these needs.

Residents are urged to make home contributions regardless of contributions that may be made through business associations, she said. Contributors of one dollar or more become members of the Red Cross and as such are eligible to take part in organizational work and activities and have a voice in the Red Cross program.

Major Howard Lillingston, president of the Campbell branch of the Red Cross, joined with Mrs. Ryan in urging whole-hearted support of the campaign.

For additional briefing on the drive, all area and sectional chairmen are to meet next Tuesday, March 12, at 10:30 a.m. at Mrs. Ryan's home at 548 Old Orchard Road for a coffee break. That evening, they will meet at her home again at 8:15 to give reports on their areas and bring in contributions. Mrs. Ryan stressed the importance of these two meetings and urges all workers to attend.

Jury Finds Man Guilty In Drunk Driving Case

Joseph H. Sanchez, of Sunnyvale, arrested during the Christmas weekend in Campbell after a wreck and charged with drunk driving was found guilty Tuesday by a jury trial in the Los Gatos Court. Sanchez, who admitted two prior arrests on the same charge, had pleaded not guilty. The jury deliberated 18 minutes in reaching the verdict.

Judge Paul Crawford of the Campbell-Los Gatos-Saratoga Judicial district, fined Sanchez $525 and gave him a 90-day suspended jail sentence.

Freeway Driving Demands Special Care, CHP Says

Freeway and multi-lane highway driving demands special attention to the traffic laws if safety is to be attained says the California Highway Patrol.

"The first, and most important rule is staying in the right hand lane except when passing another vehicle or planning a left turn," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Drivers who poke along in the wrong lane or who utilize the passing lane for a driving lane are accident causing potentials and subject to arrest.

Moving with the normal and legal flow of traffic is also important for safety," Caldwell continued. "Drivers who race along cutting in and out of traffic or who lag so slow they interfere with others are headed for an accident or a citation.

Other laws applying to multi-lane driving include proper signals when changing lanes or planning to turn, keeping a safe distance behind the car ahead and preparing yourself for anticipated turns by getting into the correct lane well in advance of the turn," he concluded. "Freeway and multi-lane highway driving can be accident free if drivers will obey the rules."

The C of C Deserves Your Support

This organization, the only one in the wide, wide world that gives a hoot about what is going on in Campbell from a business point of view, is faced with a problem of how it is going to keep its doors open.

Actually the problem has a simple solution.

The Chamber is suffering from nothing that a hundred or so memberships won't cure.

Only a fraction of those who should join the Chamber of Commerce have done so to date. Consequently its dwindling income has forced the C. of C. against the wall.

The ironical part of the situation is that those who are shouting the loudest for action on the part of the C. of C. are the ones who for the most part have neglected to send in their dues.

We will never know how these same people expect the Chamber of Commerce to function without any dough in the treasury.

An active organization such as the C. of C. is of tremendous value to a growing community faced with the hundreds of problems brought on by this growth. It is the only quasi-official group in existence that can represent the residents and business people alike. It is the only body that can act with any degree of authority in the relations between the city government and businessmen. Yet many of these same businessmen fail to support the organization.

It is difficult to build a case for assistance to the local merchants in their efforts to get new and hold old business when many of these same merchants make no effort to help themselves.

The Chamber can act collectively for all the businesses in many activities for the benefit of all—but it first must have the membership.

In other words, the Chamber of Commerce needs your support so it in turn can support you. That seems to us like a fair exchange.

You Get What You Pay For

The hassle over the location of the post office in Campbell illustrates how difficult it is for governmental officials to change directions once they have started government machinery into operation.

Apparently there is no question, as far as the "brass" of the postal department is concerned, that public opinion favors some other location for the post office than the Central Ave. spot that was first chosen by postal officials.

The post office people apparently agree also that the Methodist Church property has far more advantages than the Central Ave. location. We think they will even admit that the site is worth more money. But that is as far as it goes.

The postal officials claimed that it was difficult to justify spending more money for one location over another in the same community. After all, they point out, it is the taxpayers' money and, if the postal officials spent $4,000 more for the more than 25,000 offices they have in the country, it would amount to quite a sizeable figure.

As this editorial is being written we are not certain as to the final outcome of the post office location hassle in Campbell.

The Campbell Press from the beginning has fought the location of the post office on Central Ave. We claim the street is too narow, parking facilities too limited and the surrounding area not suitable, as reasons for our opposition.

We take credit for halting proceedings so that another look could be taken of the local situation especially because the Methodist Church property at Campbell Ave. and N. First St. had become available. We feel certain other locations in town would serve far better than the Central Ave. spot.

We think that the small amount saved in this instance by going on Central merely illustrates that people get only what they pay for.

Neither the post office department nor the people it serves will get very much on Central.

Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

Our longest resident old settler I believe to be Manuel Silva of Hamilton Avenue. He has been here about 80 years, and he has a remarkable story.

He began man's work at the age of 15, taking over after the accidental death of his father. There were sisters in the family but no other male member.

His mother was the proudest in all that region. She often stood out in front by the road and told passing neighbors about the merits of her son. He was her hero, and he well deserved to be.

At four o'clock in the morning the boy Manuel was up and heading for the large Dutard ranch, a real ranch. Here he fed and curried four huge plough horses. After he had breakfasted at the ranch house he worked the four-horse team ten hours. It was thus, weather permitting, six days a week.

"Child Labor"

This was "child labor," and is Manuel proud of it? He says, "The work I did would kill any child of today." To see Manuel's head-up stride in a street of Campbell is worth a dollar admission. As for walking speed few can keep up with him. His health and vigor are terrific, fairly.

Manuel became a prosperous farmer in his own right, investing in Hamilton Avenue land when it was relatively cheap. Recently he sold at subdivision prices—fabulous, shall we say? Don't be surprised if he has considerable money to loan. But don't ask out of mere curiosity. To me he pointedly said, "I don't tell anybody my business!"

Okay, Manuel, okay; keep your shirt on!

But I'll wager that whoever borrows of Manuel will have to furnish good security and pay fair interest. He will not be fooled by borrowers who fool themselves. Early association with horses gave him horse sense.

Wants A Bicycle

Incidentally, he wants a bicycle; but his wife won't let him have one on account of the danger to a priceless man. Maybe she has horse sense too.

Manuel and I attended the original Hamilton school, it and Hamilton Avenue being called after a pioneer family of that name. It was a two-room school, and some of its boys boasted they were the worst behaved lot in Santa Clara County. Favorite name of the two women teachers for the boys was "poison." Boys fought on the school ground every day, and the teachers did not dare to interfere.

Manuel remembers that one of the most ready fighters was Hardy Downing, later a famed bicycle racer. When enraged Hardy exploded like a human bomb. He would pitch into anybody, regardless of large size. When he became a racer he was an explosive sprinter.

Manuel and Hardy became great friends, and Manuel will tell you all about Hardy's eventual career as a fight promoter in Salt Lake City.

Sister Great Cook

Manuel's sister Mary Ann sat in front of me in school and will tell you that I pulled her long braided hair. I will tell you that she became a marvelous cook and after marriage was a customer of my grocery store. From her I learned that she could prepare beans in 20 different ways. She never served her family the same principal dish in the same week twice.

In view of this consideration for her family it should be no surprise that she was famed for good personal disposition.

Manuel's own disposition was early improved by this school incident. As a joke on the girl sitting in front of him he put a foxtail down the back of her dress. The thrashing he got from the teacher was a turning-point in his life. He retells this story with gusto almost every time I talk with him.

He thus gives more proof of the excellent material of which he is made. Only the good are improved by punishment. The bad only suffer pain and are usually resentful.

At our school, I hope it is clear, there was no teacher supervision of playground to make the boys sissies. But not all the boys fought. I don't recall that Manuel fought. There was another boy who didn't fight, the father of our present County Manager, Attorney Howard Campen. In the tumult and the striving his father was quiet and level-headed, with plenty of what we call guts.

If Howard Campen succeeds at the difficult job of County Manager some credit will be due to his ancestry, Hamilton school trained. I hope Campen makes good. Then Manuel Silva, our male old settler longest here, will have all the more reason to walk with a head-up stride worth a dollar admission to see.

OUT on the LIMB
with
George Vierhus

As hard as we try to keep abreast of things that occur in this town, we have to admit a number of little tidbits manage to get by us.

For example we pass the Hunt's packing shed a number of times each day and just a few days ago we noticed for the first time the sign that was posted on the building. We have no idea how long it has been there.

All there is on the sign is a picture of a barber-pole and the letters SPEBSQSA.

We figured it out without any help from anyone that it meant the "Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Quartet Singing of America".

We haven't had a chance as yet to dig into the reasons why the sign was put up there. Or for that matter how long it had been there before we noticed it.

We plan on finding out one of these days.

In the meantime every time we now go by the joint we are keeping our ears cocked to hear warblings that will indicate that the quartets may be practicing inside.

Some might think it strange, if they hear "Sweet Adeline" blaring forth from the confines of a former cannery, but not us now. We are prepared now that we have seen the sign.

We will keep you posted on any further developments.

Because we are still curious how come the sign got there and why.

—o—

About a year ago parking on Campbell Ave. in front of the high school was changed from diagonal to parallel. However, parking remained diagonal in front of the grammar school.

We are now wondering whether or not it wouldn't be better to change the parking to parallel in the grammar school area also.

We are not sure whether this would do anything to ease the traffic situation somewhat at the Campbell Ave. - Winchester Road intersection but we are in favor of anything that would help matters a little there.

Especially in the evening when traffic backs up for blocks on Campbell Ave.

—o—

In this issue we are publishing hte second in a series on needed city improvements and how they can be obtained.

We sincerely hope that interested citizens will digest these reports and then participate in the "forum" so to speak.

In the final report will be included a ballot on which you will have an opportunity to check how you want the City Dads to proceed and in what order.

We feel pretty certain that everyone knows that there is no such thing as getting something for nothing and the improvement program for Campbell is certainly no exception.

We are convinced in our own mind that, if Campbell is to progress and become a better place in which to live and work, we will have to face the fact that it will cost us something.

We think a bond issue encompassing the entire program is the answer. It will extend the burden of paying for the improvements over a period of years and it will make the current taxpaying load that much less.

Campbell is not suffering from anything that cannot be cured by a well-developed program. Again we urge you to study these reports and then take the time to participate in the "forum" by cutting out and sending in your ballot.

We will tell you how and where to do that chore in a later issue.

—o—

We have a sneaking hunch that the race for judgeship of the Campbell-Saratoga-Los Gatos Judicial District is going to be a crowded affair.

Judge Paul Crawford now holds the office for which an election will be held in 1958.

However, with still a year to go before the election, rumors are flying like mad among barrister set in this area.

We had a pleasant chat, for example, recently with Norman Stoner, 915 Walnut Drive, an attorney who practices in San Jose. He mentioned that he might seek the office. Norman is a member of the Campbell Rotary Club and his fellow members rate him a number one guy.

We have also heard of a number of other potential candidates. The job is considered quite a plum among the counselors-at-law in this neck of the woods. It pays a fair-to-middling salary and, in addition, the j udge can still continue to practice, unlike the courts just a step above.

For that reason we expect to see considerable action on the part of would-be candidates for the job. And soon.

—o—

We think the blasts against Mayor John M. Chargin and Councilman Richard Morton in the bulletin of the West Valley Post 158, American Legion, illustrate vividly how important it is to get "your quotes right."

That is an admonition made by every editor to every budding reporter.

In the current bulletin of the Post, "The Legion Ear", Rex Kaber, post adjutant, charges the two city officials with being opposed to American Legion and other veterans organizations.

—o—

The furor stems from the difficulties the Post is encountering in trying to get a clubhouse on property the Post recently purchased from Frank Lovoi on the banks of the Los Gatos Creek on East Parr Ave. The land is now in county territory but is in the process of being annexed to the City of Campbell.

Both Chargin and Marton have denied that they are antagonistic toward veterans organizations, claiming that Kaber misinterpreted their remaks on the subject.

The two, incidentally, are pretty riled up over the matter. They are taking a dim view of the statements that are alleged to have been made by them, according to "The Legion Ear".

From what we gather, they maintain "The Ear" didn't hear correctly this time.

We predict more will be heard on the subject in the near future.

COUNTY GETS DOUGH

Robert C. Kirkwood, State Controller has informed the Supervisors that Santa Clara County will receive $167,758.86 as its share of the $6,062,472 in highway users taxes apportioned to the counties in February.

This week, here are a few Washington sidelights in the lighter vein.

—o—

Each four years, a limited number of Inaugural license plates are given honored guests at the Inauguration. The plates are good for ten days following the ceremony and bear the pictures of both the President and Vice President. This year, the words "District of Columbia" were abbreviated to make room for an expiration date on the prized tags. The change was at the direction of President Eisenhower himself. Why? Four years ago, one of the President's friends, returning to the West Coast, received a ticket from an Ohio policemen who thought the plates were out-of-date once the Inauguration was over.

Building the reviewing stand in front of the White House requires several temporary structures to be placed on the White House lawn. In discussing plans for this year's Inauguration with District of Columbia officials, President Eisenhower inquired whether or not these temporary structures would require holes in the White House lawn, adding that he was sure "Mrs. Ike" wouldn't like that.

—o—

"Mrs. Ike's" citron yellow Inaugural gown has had its effect upon Washington fashions. A look at the House galleries and the store windows shows more yellow than ever before.

—o—

At Washington receptions, first item to disappear on the hors d' oeuvre table is Louisiana shrimp. Next to last will invariably be the smoked salmon and fish canapes. The fashiionable Russian caviar seems to be the last thing on the table.

—o—

The average Congressman receives about four invitations per week to banquets and receptions for various associations holding their meetings in the Capitol City. Merely by leaving one's card at foreign embassies, it is a simple mater to triple the number of average invitations. With a workday that starts at 8:00 o'clock and lasts until 6:00 or 6:30, most members find it impossible to go out more than twice each week.

—o—

Though you didn't read about it in your newspapers, there were some red faces in Washington recently. As King Saud of Arabia hosted President Eisenhower for dinner at the Mayflower Hotel, the security net around the hotel was operating at its highest efficiency. Secret Serice men must have been everywhere in the lobby of the Mayflower that night, yet two women chose that time to enter and rob the hotel cashier of $140. Though caught a couple of blocks away, they still got in and out with the loot.

Rotary Club Steps Up Local Drive For Safe Walking

"See that you are safe!" is the important reminder issued by Campbell Rotary for the joint observance of "Safe Walking" and "Save Your Vision" weeks, now in progress.

Douglas Fitzgerald, Rotary community service chairman, has spearheaded the six-week educational campaign which ends Sunday. It is part of an intensive pedestrian safety campaign being conducted by Santa Clara County Safety Council throughout the county.

Dr. Robert R. Jasmine, Rotary member, is representing Santa Clara County Optometric Society in the "Save Your Vision" observance. He points out that at this time of year, rainy and foggy weather make it difficult for both motorist and pedestrian alike to see clearly. "Both need to be doubly cautious."

He adds that at night, it is imperative for safety sake for pedestrians to wear or carry white or some reflective material. "At night, our range of vision is seriously hampered. Pedestrians can help motorists to see them in time by wearing white," Dr. Jasmine explains.

Police Chief Robert J. Locke is cooperating on the pedestrian safety campaign. He points out that crossing streets in the middle of the block, entering the street from between parked cars, and not looking both ways before stepping off the curb, are three "successful" ways for pedestrians to flirt with death.

These and other safe walking reminders are included in the more than 40,000 pamphlets and posters being distributed by the Safety Council, with the help of junior high school Girl Scouts, this week to business establishments, industrial plants, civic and service clubs.

LAW IN ACTION

LAWSUIT LIMITATIONS

On her way to the store, Mrs. John Doe walked in front of an old building being torn down.

While glancing at her shopping list, she was hit by a plank tossed from the building. It struck and broke her foot.

She told the contractor at once that his worker had injured her, but she did nothing else.

Four years later she asked her lawyer how to get help to pay her doctor and hospital bills.

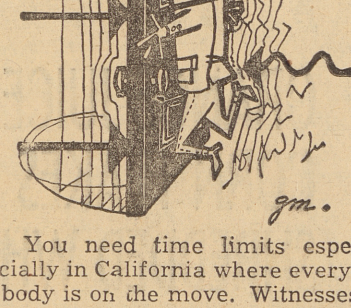
Even though Mrs. Doe had once had a good case, she could not recover damages against the contractor. She had put off action for too long. The contractor could plead the "Statute of Limitations."

Nearly every action must be brought within a certain time, sometimes a short time, sometimes longer, depending upon the nature of the lawsuit.

Why must a person bring a "timely" action? If a man owes you money, or if he has damaged you or your property, why should he get off the hook merely by waiting long enough?

The answer to that is simple: He isn't waiting; you are. If you have a just claim, you have a duty to press it within a reasonable time. For even the person who owes a bill—or who you think owes a bill—has a right to have his case brought into court within certain time limits. Otherwise he may lose track of his witnesses, destroy his accounts, or make plans—thinking that you did not mean to sue him.

Even with some crimes—but not murder—the state must act within a certain length of time. For a guilty person (if he is guilty) has the right not to have a trial hanging over his head for years.



You need time limits especially in California where everybody is on the move. Witnesses and others involved may move to parts unknown. In fact, a plaintiff might well wait until a key hostile witness died or had moved away to bring an action if the law did not impose time limits.

So, even against the people you sue, you have a duty to act in time. Do not let that time run, or you may lose your right to sue him.

Note: California lawyers offer this column for you to know about our laws.

CHP Reports That 786 Met Death In Traffic in '56

Traffic accidents in California during 1956 resulted in the death of 786 and injury to 11,551 pedestrians, according to information recently released by the California Highway Patrol.

"The majority of these victims were either under 15 or over 44 years of age. Most of them were crossing streets or highways between intersections," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Another pedestrian action reflecting high accident potential was crossing at intersections with no traffic control devices present."

"It is also noted that more than 11% of pedestrians killed during 1956 were under the influence of alcohol at the time they met death," Caldwell stated. "Pedestrian obedience to the traffic rules and regulations is equally as essential as driver obedience.

One rule, particularly applicable to rural highways, requires pedestrians to walk facing traffic," he concluded. "The Patrol's advice to all pedestrians is to obey traffic laws and remember that depending on the other fellow is not the safest way to cross the roadway; he may be depending on you."

HUGH G. NELSON, SR. CLAIMED BY DEATH

Services were held Tuesday at Campbell Memorial Chapel for Hugh Gilbert Nelson, Sr., 75, who passed away Saturday after a brief illness.

Nelson was a self-employed brick layer and cement finisher and made his home at 243 Dillon Ave. He was a member of the Congregational Church; Morning Light Lodge, IOOF; and Arkana Lodge, F and AM, Armour South Dakota. A native of Illinois, he had made his home in the Campbell Area for the past twenty years.

Nelson leaves his widow, Hazel; four sons, Hugh G., Jr., Paul H. and Roy B. Nelson, all of Campbell, and Philip G. Nelson of Salinas; a sister, Mrs. Annie Fletcher of San Jose; two brothers, Nathan Nelson of Oakdale, and Norman Nelson of Arkansas; and eight grandchildren.

QUITE A FEW ROLLING

Santa Clara County had 273,146 registered vehicles in 1956, Paul Mason, director, department of motor vehicles, has announced. Mason said the county reported a total of 212,480 in 1955.

California's 1956 apricot crop had an estimated value of $24,024,000.

Pumice occurs in fragments ranging in size from 1/8 inch to large masses as much as ten feet across.

40,000 Servicemen to File

Preparing Tax Assessment Roll for County Gets Under Way this Week

Preparing of Santa Clara County's assessment roll got under way this week, according to Hayden W. Pitman, county assessor. All property is assessed for purposes of taxation on the first Monday in March (March 4 this year) at 12 o'clock noon and property statements must be filed within the time specified by the Assessor.

The Assessor also listed a number of other salient points bearing on the assessment proceedings:

40,000 Service Men

Approximately 40,000 servicemen and women will file claims for exemption during the next few weeks in the County.

California law allows all qualified veterans a $1000 deduction in the assessed value of their property, provided the veteran or the veteran's wife does not own property in the value of $5000 or more.

As a prerequisite to the allowance of the veteran's claim, the interest of the claimant in the property must be of record on the lien date, which is the first Monday in March.

In 1956, the college, church, welfare and veterans' exemptions amounted to $61,744,340, of which approximately one-half or $31,000,000 applied to veterans.

Veterans filing for the first time this year must personally appear in the office of the Assessor, presenting their record of service and evidence of property ownership. If the veteran is unable to personally appear, the veteran's spouse may file for the veteran. ALL questions MUST be answered.

Veterans who filed last year and who are still qualified under the $5,000 limitation may file their affidavit by mail prior to April 15.

Affidavits for church, orphanage and welfare exemptions should be filed at once. April first is the last day for filing for the welfare exemption.

All veteans who appear on the Assessor's records as the owners of real property for 1956, and whose claims for exemption were allowed last year, have been mailed the necessary property statement and exemption affidavit. These affidavits must be filled out in detail, properly signed, acknowledge, and reurned to this office at once.

Unfurnished Rentals

Owners of residential property who are renting such property unfurnished should notify the Assessors office of this fact at once giving the name of the renter or occupant of this property.

Business and professional property statements should be filed at once. Audits of these accounts are now in process.

The Assessor's Office is located in the Hall of Justice, Market and St. James Streets, San Jose. It is open from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

The Continental Congress adopted Articles of Confederation November 15, 1777.

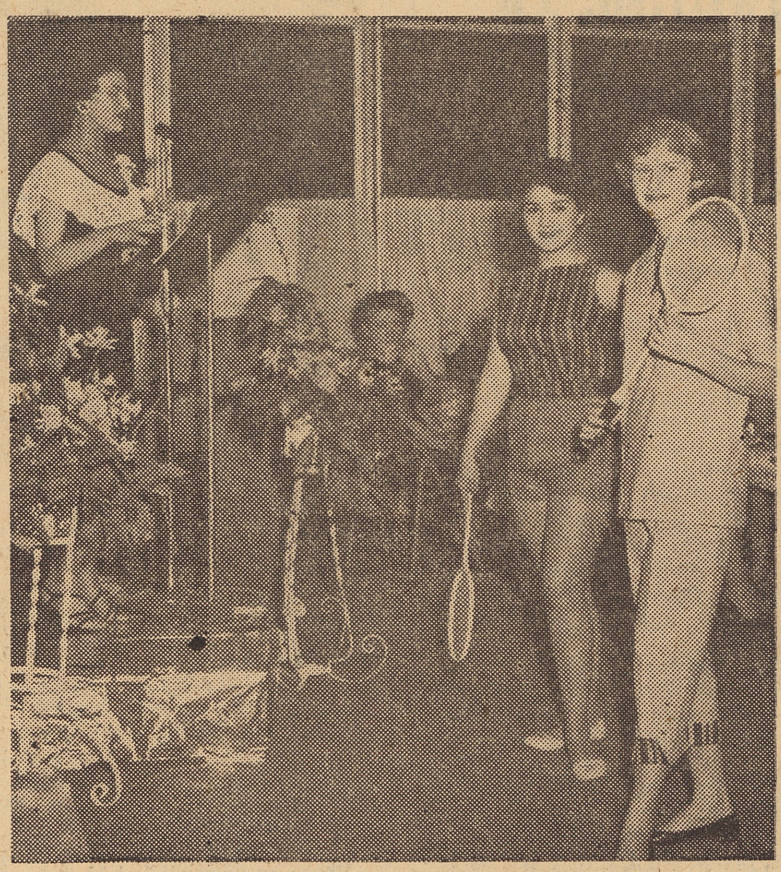
St. Lucy's Fashion Show Scores Hit As New Styles Go on Display

By Vivian Faulkner
Women's Editor



Milady will be more romantically feminine this Spring than she has been for years if styles displayed Friday evening at St. Lucy's fashion show are any indication of the coming trend in her apparel.

An annual event, the affair was sponsored by the St. Lucy's Women's Club and St. Lucy's Mothers Guild and was held in the St. Lucy's School. The theme of this year's show was "Mardi Gras Time Is Fashion Time".

Along with the first rustle of Spring there is a distinct rustle of silk and swish of taffeta with chiffon in afternoon dresses, ensembles and evening wear. Fashion seems to be equally divided between billowing skirts and the high-waisted Empire sheaths.

The latest styles from Lia's Fashion Salon, Helen's Juvenile Shop and C. H. Baker Shoes were effectively displayed against a Mardi Gras setting of floor to ceiling water color murals of the New Orleans French quarter as background for gaily colored balloons, serpentine, sidewalk cafe tables and the confetti strewn ramp on which models paraded.

Mrs. Adolph Pedrin, smartly gowned in a pure silk molded black sheat accented with a white cotton lace collar and wearing a large black picture hat, commented on the outstanding details of each fashion as models strolled the ramp.

Hostess For Evening

Hostess of the evening was Mrs. Renso Orsi who wore a beautifully cut sheer black wool sheath which featured a square neckline and huge matching back bustle-bow.

First to be shown were play clothes for adults in a nubby new material called "calypso" which gives promise of becoming popular this year. Noticeable was the Chinese motif in the trouser and jacket ensembles. An especially good one being a bold black and white Chinese abstract print modeled by Mrs. Marilyn Malone.

Pure silk was fashioned in vivid print separates as well as solid colored ultra modern cocktail and softly draped afternoon dresses. One of the most outstanding was a Siamese blue print modeled by Mrs. Jan Mastice which featured a hood or stole inter-twined in neckline inserts. Another shown by Mrs. Mary Louise McGinty was a powder blue pure silk duster, with back buckle and belt, which was split from under arm to hem to show the pure silk blue empire styled print dress beneath.

Sheaths appeared to be exceedingly popular, the high-waisted empire line marked with belts, sashes, tabs or velvet ribbons, some with full-length coats or dusters, others with tiny bolero jackets. All coats and jackets displayed a back interest; most were tabbed, buckled or buttoned and lined with matching dress material. A sheath with very good lines modeled by Mrs. Fran Sargent was a pink linen with matching striped bolero jacket buttoned down the back.

Chiffon Comes Back

Chiffon has made a comeback in soft pastel prints after an absence of many years. One sheer blue print chiffon featured a draped surplice bodice and full floating gathered skirt. Given enthusiastic approval by those present was a full skirted black and white chiffon harlequin print over black taffeta with scooped neckline dipping low in back which Mrs. Pearl Owen displayed.

WHO'S WHO

Mrs. Adolph Pedrin, (top photo) far left, commentator at St. Lucy's fashion show is shown with models Rosemary Aiello, left, and Elaine Mayer, right. In the lower photo another model, Terri-Orsi poses with her puppy.

Mrs. Bobby Hindley modeled a stunning white beach set with hooded finger-tip waffle knit cardigan and sophisticated long-line swim suit. This same cotton knit was shown repeatedly in sheath dresses, jackets and swim suits.

Important this spring is the new "sissy" shirtwaist dress with skirt of soft unpressed pleats and ruffled front bodice a shown by Mrs. Betty Chargin in blue and white stripes.

Perennial Favorite

That perennial favorite, navy blue, was modeled by Mrs. Pearl Owen in sheer worsted wool sheath with shawl collar and three-quarter sleeves touched with white. Another navy outfit drawing favorable comment was a light-weight wool sheath in high-waisted empire style with double rows of buttons on the bodice and tiny white collar shown by Mrs. Helen Duffy. Mrs. Anthony Oreglia displayed a striking navy butcher linen duster over a navy blue sheath with white coin dots which featured the Sabrina neckline so new this Spring.

Also given considerable prominence were fashions of cotton lace over taffeta and polished cotton, some heavily embroidered.

Children's Fashions

Charming children's fashions reflecting the grown-up "fair lady" styles were everglace separates with flowered skirts and matching solid-color tops worn by Marsha De Rosa, and a turquoise empire styled princess dress with striped back buttoned bolero jacket shown by Starlet Einberger.

Seven-year old Terri Orsi, grinning widely, sauntered by clutching her wriggling police puppy while wearing a polished cotton pedal-pusher set with turquoise pants and Italian knit striped top with drawstring blouse, just the thing to wear for a tussle with her frisky playmate.

Shoes worn by the models for the most part were mere wisps of straps, pumps were open-toed or completely backless and all came in a wide variety of pastels and clear plastic, many with elaborate rhinestone trim on instep and heel.

Awarded prizes during intermission were: 1st, Mrs. Richard Bowen, 1125 E. Fewtrell, hand-made tablecloth; 2nd, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 94 E. Rosemary Lane, child's complete outfit from Helen's Juvenile Shop; 3rd, Mrs. W. W. Creighton, 725 Audrey Ave., complete lady's outfit from Lia's Fashion Salon.

Door prizes went to Mesdames Ugo Orsi, Thomas Totsro, J. Loder, K. Scurcella, and Rex Kaber.

Beside her son, Verle, she leaves her husband, Harold S. Bullard of Oakland; two daughters, Wanda Myers of Tujunga, and Ila Bussell of Trazana; another son, Thalin Grizzle also of Trazana; a step-daughter, Margery Thurber of Oakland; and four grandchildren, Daniel Bussell, Valerie Grizzle, Patrick Thurber and Michael Thurber.

Bulb Sales to Help Quito Youth

The Guito Dads' Club will conduct an all out drive from March 7 through 10 to sell electric light bulbs to residents, according to an announcement made today by R. I. Murray, president of the club. Every cent of the proceeds will go to Quito School Youth Welfare Fund.

Bulbs will be sold in baks of four 60-watt, two 75-watt and three 100-watt bulbs at the regular price. The club feels every household can use light bulbs and this drive affords opportunity to buy a good supply and help a good cause at the same time. The entire membership has been organized and is ready to supply friends and neighbors.

Because service clubs in other areas have had excellent results with similar sales, Murray expressed his confidence in the success of this fund raising campaign.

Expert Gives Club Advice on Roses

Addition of five percent alfalfa meal to peat, well-rotted manure and good garden top soil to insure a plentiful supply of nitrogen was recommended by Clyde Stocking, rosarian, when he addressed the February 20 meeting of the Blossom Valley Garden Club. Stocking also advised thorough watering and proper preparation of the hole in which one put "bare root" stock roses.

Mrs. James Goble presided over the meeting which was held at the Cambrian Youth Center with members of the Aldercroft Garden Club as guests.

The club will entertain husbands and guests at a potluck dinner to be held Friday, March 15, at 6:30 p.m., at Farnham School, San Jose-Los Gatos Road and Woodard Avenue. A feature of the evening will be a drawing for door prizes. Arrangements may be made by calling Mrs. S. O. Lombard, FR 8-4486, or Mrs. H. C. Gilbert, FR 8-3260, who will also take reservations for child care. Children will be cared for at the home of Mrs. Goble so they may be bedded down when sleepy.

Speaker for hte evening will be Owen Pierce of Orinda who will use slides to illustrate his lecture "Collector's Items in the Garden" which deals with rare and unusual bulbs, plants and shrubs easily grown in anyone's garden.

Next meeting of the executive board will be March 13, 9:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Blue on White Oaks Road.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. Now is the time to think of planting Tuberous Begonias, Dalhias and Gladiolus.

2. Get off to a good start by proper soil preparation. Humus materials or chemical soil conditioners should be used. Your nurseryman will be glad to advise you.

3. If you hurry, your nurseryman may still be able to supply bare-root fruit, shade and flowering trees. Perhaps also bare-root roses, grapes and berryvines.

4. Here are a few items you can plant in the food garden—Seeds of Beets, Carrots, Lettuce, Endive, Onion, Turnips, and Radishes. Plants of Cabbage, Cauliflower, Swiss Chard and Brussels Sprouts—Roots of Rhubarb, Artichokes and Asparagus.

5. Ornamental Shrubbery planted now has a change to become established before the hot summer.

Arbor Day—Plant A Tree

As is customary at this time of year, Governor Goodwin J. Knight will soon proclaim "Plant A Tree Week". In California "Plant A Tree Week" generally occurs early in March, for March 7 is not only Arbor Day but also the birthday of Luther Burbank, world renouned California naturalist.

With each passing year, says the California Association of Nurserymen, the significance of "Plant A Tree Week" becomes more important to California and to the nation as a whole. Long ago, naturalists realized the value of trees in holding top soil against the ravages of water and the subsequent prevention of property damage.

Now, even with the present cooperation of commercial and governmental authorities at all levels, much still remains to be done to increase tree planting to prevent and repair damage to our natural resources and to the natural beauty of our state.

The value of trees has also reached into fields other than timber and resource conservation. Highway engineers use trees as sound insulation. Where freeways and highways pass through residential areas, trees are planted on either side of the thoroughfare act to absorb street noises. These trees also tend to contain the dust and smoke which is indigenous to heavily traveled highways.

Home owners too, have been quick to recognize the value of trees. Trees uphold the value of property and when fully grown can even affect the temperatures around a home. New subdivisions are made more appealing to buyers when shade of flowering trees line the streets and adorn the garden.

Industry, too has found that shade trees not only beautify unattractive buildings and areas but furnish a better environment for employees—a fact which has lessened employee turnover and even increased production. Also, where an industry is located close to a residential area, a barrier of beautiful high trees will often provide a screen sufficient to eliminate home-owner objections.

Consult your local nurseryman for the type of shade, fruit or flowering fruit tree which is best suited for your particular needs. As a member of a home-owners association or even of the management of an industry beset with problems of location or environment, you may find trees the answer to your problem.

LILACS

Long a familiar plant in Man's garden the Lilac (Syringa) is a native of the oldest gardening areas of the world—Europe and Asia.

The Lilac is a hardy grower in all areas of the state, says the California Association of Nurserymen, but this deciduous shrub or tree needs a cold dormant season to produce a full bloom. If planted in warm winter climates, gardeners should force dormancy by ceasing to water after the shrub has flowered—generally from August on. The Persian Lilac is best in warm winter areas. In early spring and through the flowering season water generously. Pinch or prune lightly to direct or control growth. Dormant oil sprays applied between December and February will clean up any scale insects. Lilacs are one of the few plants that tolerate an acid soil.

There are several Lilac species, the most popular being the Persian (S, persica), the Chinese (S. chinensis) and the Common (S. vulgaris).

The Persian grows to six feet in a graceful, arching manner. Fragrant pale violet flowers make a billowy mass of color on the shrubs in May. A popular variety of the Persian is the Cutleaf (S. persica lacinata) with cut fern-like leaves. The Chinese Lilac is not really from China but is actually a hybrid of the Persian and the Common, usually reaching six feet. Its open, airy clusters of rose purple frowers also appear in May. Both the Persian and Chinese Lilacs are better suited for hot weather climates.

The Common Lilac usually grows to 20 feet, a small tree size. It is available in almost 200 varieties. The most popular include the white Monument, the pink Esther Staley, the violet-purple Marceau and the blue Blue Hyacinth.

Camellia Reticulatas

Though there is a suggestion of the mysterious and unusual about the newly introduced Chinese Camellia Reticulata, they can be grown successfully and beautifully in this state, a fact which calls for celebration, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Nine years ago 20 varieties of a new Camellia race called Reticulata, then scarcely known outside of China, were brought here from that country. Botanists had knowledge of a sterile Reticulata variety called Captain Rawes, brought to England in 1820, but did not know that in the province of Yunnan, China, there were many varieties of the Reticulata species which is quite different from the familiar Japonica. Horticultural sleuths searching the world over for unusual plants during the past century, had failed to discover the Reticulatas of Yunnan.

An exchange of letters between an American and two Chinese botanists arranged for the delivery of 20 Reticulata varieties in 1948 to California, via air freight. These were grown for four years in test gardens and since 1952, many of the varieties have been available to the gardening public.

"The most remarkable feature of these Camellias is the amazing transformation they undergo in flower development," says Dr. Walter E. Lammert, the American botanists and head of Descanso Research Division, who was instrumental in the importation, propogation and marketing of these Reticulatas in this country.

An example of this transformation is, Purple Gown, one of the varieties, which opens deep purple-red with pin stripes of white Then as each petal enlarges, the blossom becomes five to six inches in diameter and the color changes to wine-red retaining the minute pin stripes.

There are now 15 Reticulatas available to gardeners, each of rare beauty. Many amateur gardeners have grown Reticulatas successfully and nurserymen can now obtain several of the varieties for home gardens. Growing a Reticulata can be an adventuresome and enjoyable experience for the amateur gardener for as a pioneer grower of this Camellia, he will discover, as botanists are now doing, more about this new flower from China.

Treat Easy With Frozen Pie

Mince Pie, traditional with the Holidays, is a treat all through the winter months. They're a special treat for the Lady of the house now, for no time is needed in preparation, using frozen mince pies. Simply pop them in the oven. They don't even need defrosting.

The most economical size to buy, say Simple Simon home economists who developed this frozen Mince Pie with the busy hostess in mind, is the 8-inch "Family Size Pie" which cuts into five generous servings.

Such tender flaky crust filled with real, old-fashioned mincemeat is a complete dessert by itself. But if your guests prefer a sauce in addition, try this one for a treat they'll long remember:

½ cup powdered sugar
Few grains salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup whipping cream

Beat egg until stiff. Add sugar gradually, continue beating. Add salt, nutmeg and vanilla. Whip cream. Fold into egg mixture. Serve over warm mince pie.

By Richard Ferguson

Year-end blues plagued the Campbell Buccaneers as they dropped an important league game to Mountain View 67-38 Friday night in the Los Altos gym. Campbell ended the season with a 5 win 4 loss record to pull down a fifth place position in the SCVAL.

Mountain View finished up in better shape with 7-2 for a three-way tie with Santa Clara and James Lick.

Fighting hard to get on the winning trail, after a string of five defeats, the Bucs couldn't seem to muster the shooting power to even get within range of the hot shooting Mountain View Eagles. Free throws were especially relished by the Eagles as they hit for 15 points.

The Campbell cagers looked as if they were up to their old game at the start of the contest. A flash scoring spree accounted for 7 points within two minutes while the Eagles were only getting 2.

Perhaps the Bucs thought it was going to be an easy victory for they let up on defense and were quickly outscored, out-hustled and generally out-played from there on in. The Eagles finished the first canto with a spurt that dampened everyone's hearts. They ended on top 14-7.

During the rest of the game the Eagles ran away with the Bucs to such an extent that Steve Flynn had time for some fine behind the back passing. Bob Cousy's famous round-the-back lay-in was even tried once but didn't prove very effective. Flynn proved to many spectators that high school basketball players are not just out grown children with his finger tip passing that would be envied by many college players.

Jerry Shenefiel showed his old flash again as he tanked 12 points to lead his teamates in the scoring columm with Ron Rowe and Gene Andres following with 8 apiece.

Spartan Cagers Break 18 Records

Accent was on offense as San Jose State cagers, and their opponents, broke or tied 19 standards in the Spartan record book during the 1956-57 sason.

The new listings reflect an accurate picture of the Sparton season which saw a stepped-up offense which was not enough to counter a weakened defense.

For instance, the Spartans averaged 66.4 points a game, 4.1 points above the best previous record, 62.3 last year. However, San Jose opponents scored at the rate of 65.8, an average of 5.5 points above the previous high of 60.3 set in 1955.

The Spartans hit 39.6 per cent of their field goal attempts, far above the previous best of 36.3 set two years ago.

Marv Branstrom, the Spartans' junior center, contributed two records. He hit on 116 of 253 field goal attempts for a 45.9 average to break Carroll Williams' 1955 mark of 43.7. Branstrom's two year record of 42.8 also tops Williams' 1954-55 standard of 42.1.

Branstrom scored 308 points, Gil Egeland, 312, and Eddie Diaz, 392, to give the Spartans a trio of 300-point scorers for the first time since 1949 and only the second time in history. Only Stu Inman in 1948, 49, and 50 and Carroll Williams in 1954 and 55, scored more points in one season than Diaz. Egeland now is tied with Chuck Hughes as 12th highest single-season scorer and Branstrom is next in line. Branstrom also hauled in 370 rebounds, only six short of George Clark's 1952 all-time record.

Almquist Heads Bucs in Scoring

Roger Almquist led his teamates in the points per game average as the season ended last Friday with a 11.6 average which was also good enough to place Roger on the top prep scorers list.

Almquist was also the spark for the team along with Jerry Shenefiel who averaged 8 points to follow Roger in the scoring column. Gene Andres and Ron Rowe averaged 7 points a game to come in third. They were always present to drop in the ball, if Almquist or Shenefiel were cold on any particular night.

"30's" Score

Tom Perry led the "thirties" scorers with a 9 1/4 point per game average with Ben Lujan close behind with 8½. Lujan picked up quite a few of his tallies on drive-ins while Perry stuck more to a long one handed set shot from the right corner.

Property Taxes Go Up Faster than Prices Do

Average property tax per person in Santa Clara county is up 36 per cent since 1953, but the consumer price index is up only 3 percent in the same time, California Taxpayers' association has reported, making public its five-year study of property taxes in California counties.

Property taxes in the county are going up faster than the population and the increase in prices combined, the association pointed out.

Per capita levy on property in the county—for all the local governments in the county—averaged $104.98 for 1956-57, compared with $77.31 for 1952-53, the association said.

Total levy on property in the county this year is $51,281,706, compared with $27,188,328 for 1952-53.

Santa Clara Broncs Cinch Third

Santa Clara beat the St. Mary's Gaels 62-53 cinching third place in the C.B.A. This puts St. Mary's a full game behind U.S.F. whom they meet Tuesday night. St. Marys will have to beat U.S.F. to gain a tie for the title.

Santa Clara finished C.B.A. with a 10-4 record. If St. Marys loses to the Dons they can tie them for second place.

P. C. L. Gives Approval

The Pacific Coast League approved Brooklyn entry into the Loop as owner of the Los Angeles franchise and Wrigley Field.

One complication that might rise out of this is that the L. A. Club would lose Steve Bilko, Homerun King of the Pacific Coast League. Portland hopes to get him because of a new working agreement with the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs will transfer many Los Angeles players to Portland, but Brooklyn's new general manager in the south will fight for Bilko.

Former Bronco Still Hot

Ken Sears, former center for the Santa Clara Broncos led the N. Y. Knickerbockers to a 97-94 victory over St. Louis by a 21 point performance.

Widespread Support for Defeat of "Crime Comics" Bill Gains in State

Capitol News Service

Widespread support for the defeat of the AB 64, the anti "crime comic book" bill, introduced at the first half of the legislative session by Assemblyman Frank G. Bonelli, (D-Huntington Park), appears to be gaining headway throughout the state.

The Southern California Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union has joined in the battle to keep the legislation off California's statute books, on the grounds that it is a measure to impose a censorship against a free press.

In 1955, Bonelli had a similar measure, which despite the fact it passed the legislature, was vetoed by Governor Goodwin J. Knight on the grounds it was unconstitutional.

There appears to be nothing new in the measure which would make it constitutional two years later, yet Bonelli is attempting once again to create a furor by pushing the bill.

The California Newspaper Publishers Association has been on guard for many years against this type of legislation, even if it is difficult to oppose the intent of well-meaning people who want sincerely to keep the junk off the news-stands. And this is difficult, because these well-meaning people have a point and a good one—some of the comic books just aren't wholesome.

Generally, however, publishers of the comic books have been alerted to the dangers they contain, and lately have tamed them down. At least they are not as lurid as they were some years ago when the agitation against them first started. But by no means are they perfect as yet, and probably never will be in the minds of many people who want to feed the young people only the pap of life, rather than the facts.

But the comic book long ago has been held by no less an authority than J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, not to be a spur to juvenile delinquency. He said: "It is doubtful that an appreciable decrease in juvenile delinquency would result if crime comic books of all types were not readily available to children. Guidance by parents in the reading habits of boys and girls is the best defense against possible addiction to horror stories."

Gubser Tries Again on Bill for P.O. Equipment

Congressman Charles S. Gubser's bill to encourage the use of automatic equipment in the nation's post offices has been reintroduced in the House of Representatives.

In the 84th Congress, the same measure won approval of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee and was later passed by the House of Representatives. It died in a Senate log jam of legislation in the closing days of the 84th Congress.

The proposed program was originally inspired following Gubser's inspection tour of European post offices. On his return, the Congressman referred to American post offices as "horse and buggy" when compared with those of smaller European nations.

English Professor Presents Readings

San Jose State College will present Dr. Margery Bailey, Stanford University professor emeritus of English, in a program of reading from Charles Dickens at 8 tonight, in the Concert Hall of the college Music Building, Seventh Street, San Jose.

The program, open to the public without charge, is part of the Thursday Evening Centennial Lecture series sponsored by the college in conjunction with its current 100th anniversary celebration. The college English department will sponsor Dr. Bailey's appearance in cooperation with the centennial committee.

Recognized as an actress of compelling quality in both tragic and comic roles, Dr. Bailey will present readings emphasizing Dickens' vivid characterization and narrative, including such famous Dickensian characters as the Micawbers, Quilp, Sam Weller, and Mrs. Gamp.

SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGE

Congressman Charles S. Gubser has moved to include the "forgotten man" under Social Security legislation. The bill which Gubser has been drafting for several weeks would make eligible for Social Security benefits all persons over the age of 63 who worked at jobs that have been included under the Social Security System

Peek-Hole Driving Invites Trouble

Peek hole driving in cold frosty weather is illegal as well as dangerous warns the California Highway Patrol.

"Drivers who scrape "peek holes" through the ice or frost on their windshields and then operate their cars on the public roads are asking for accident trouble," declared Captain Ed Tressler of the Patrol's Santa Clara County Area.

"Peek holes may become death traps due to lack of adequate sight area and can easily lead a driver into an accident because he couldn't see another car," Tressler stated. "Clear the entire windshield, front—side, and rear windows before you drive.

"For those cars that must be left out in the weather, a cardboard, blanket or newspaper over the glass will help prevent ice or frost from forming," he suggested.

NEW LIQUOR LICENSES

The Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control has announced that more than 5,000 licensees have taken advantage of the change in the law allowing the sale and consumption of all types of alcohol on licensed premises other than public eating places. The law was proposition 5 on last November's ballot and was passed by the people of California.
